

ACME CORPORATION

Employee Handbook & Workplace Policies

Effective Date: January 1, 2026

1. Working Hours and Attendance

Acme Corporation's standard working hours are 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, with a one-hour lunch break. Employees are expected to be available during their scheduled working hours and to maintain accurate attendance records. Employees who expect to be late or absent should notify their manager as early as reasonably possible.

2. Annual Leave

Full-time employees are entitled to 20 days of paid annual leave for each completed calendar year. Employees may carry forward up to 5 unused annual leave days into the following calendar year. Any unused annual leave above the five-day carry-forward limit expires at the end of the calendar year unless an exception has been approved by Human Resources. Annual leave should normally be requested through the employee leave system at least five working days before the intended start date.

3. Sick Leave

Employees who are unable to work because of illness may take up to 10 paid sick leave days per calendar year. Employees should notify their manager before the start of their scheduled working hours whenever possible. A medical certificate may be requested for absences lasting more than three consecutive working days.

4. Remote Work

Employees who have successfully completed their probationary period may request remote work for up to two working days per week. Remote work requires prior manager approval and depends on business and team requirements. Employees working remotely are expected to remain reachable during standard working hours, protect company information, and use approved company systems and devices.

5. Probation

New full-time employees normally complete a six-month probationary period beginning on their employment start date. During probation, the employee's performance, conduct, attendance, and suitability for the role are reviewed. The company may extend probation when additional time is reasonably required for assessment, subject to applicable company procedures and law.

6. Parental Leave

Eligible employees may take up to 16 weeks of paid parental leave following the birth or adoption of a child. Employees should inform Human Resources as early as possible and provide the documentation required for leave administration. The timing of parental leave should be coordinated with the employee's manager and Human Resources while respecting applicable legal requirements.

7. Business Expenses

Employees may request reimbursement for reasonable business expenses incurred while performing authorized company duties. Expense claims should be submitted through the expense management system within 30 days of the expense date and must include an itemized receipt when one is available. Expenses require manager approval and may be rejected when they are outside company policy or were not reasonably connected to business activities.

8. Workplace Respect and Harassment

Acme Corporation is committed to a workplace free from harassment, discrimination, bullying, and retaliation. Employees who experience or witness inappropriate workplace conduct should report the concern to their manager, Human Resources, or the designated ethics reporting channel. Reports will be handled as confidentially as reasonably possible, and retaliation against a person who raises a concern in good faith is prohibited.

9. Information Security

Employees must protect company information and must not share confidential business information with unauthorized individuals. Company accounts must use approved authentication methods, and employees must not share passwords or authentication codes. Suspected security incidents, lost company devices, or accidental disclosure of confidential information must be reported to the IT security team promptly.

10. Performance Reviews

Employees normally receive a formal performance review once each year. Managers may also conduct informal check-ins throughout the year to discuss goals, progress, development needs, and feedback. Employees are encouraged to raise questions about their goals or development with their manager at any time.

11. Resignation and Notice

Employees who choose to resign should submit written notice to their manager and Human Resources. The standard notice period for full-time employees is 30 calendar days unless a different period is specified in the employee's employment agreement or required by applicable law. During the notice period, employees are expected to support an orderly transition of responsibilities.

12. Employee Benefits

Eligible employees may participate in company benefit programs according to the terms of the applicable benefit plans. Benefit eligibility, coverage, and enrollment requirements may vary by employee classification and location. Employees should consult the Human Resources benefits portal for current plan information and enrollment instructions.

13. Use of Company Equipment

Company laptops, mobile devices, and other equipment are provided for authorized business purposes. Employees are responsible for taking reasonable care of company equipment and must return company property when requested or when employment ends. Employees should not install unauthorized software or disable security controls on company-managed devices.

14. Policy Questions and Exceptions

Questions about company policies should be directed to Human Resources or the relevant policy owner. Employees who believe they require an exception should discuss the situation with their manager and Human Resources before acting outside a stated policy. Exceptions are not automatic and may require documented approval.

Document purpose

This handbook is a fictional evaluation document created for testing the Enterprise Knowledge Assistant (EKA). It contains internally consistent workplace policies so that retrieval, answer grounding, and citation behavior can be evaluated against known source information.
